

Title Page

Dedication

Series Editor Introduction Arnold D. Richards

Symposium 2000 Coordinator Introduction Arnold C. Rothstein

Contributors

Introduction: The Interpretation of Dreams after a Century: Where Are We on the Royal Road Melvin R. Lansky

SYMPOSIUM 2000

Psychoanalytic Theories of Dreams and Dreaming Morton Reiser Chair

Proposals for the Next Century of Psychoanalytic Dream Studies Mark Blechner,

Dreaming, Endogenous Stimulation, and Development Steven Ellman

Discussion: Mark Solms

Clinical Panels Dreams in Clinical Work

First Clinical Panel: Ellen Rees, Chair

The organizing functions of dreaming: a contemporary psychoanalytic model James Fosshage

Dreams in clinical works Edward Nersessian

Dreaming and not dreaming Edna O'Shaughnessy

Second Clinical Panel: Ernest Kafka, Chair

Overcome by strange emotions: Dreams and Affects Elsa First

A traumatic dream: a dream in which the analyst appears as himself Robert Gillman

On analytic dream conversation in an interpersonal mode Paul Lippmann

Panel and Audience discussion

Third Clinical Panel: Ruth Imber, Chair

Bringing in the dreamer Philip M. Bromberg

Daydreams: Another royal road Marianne Goldberger

Disguised imperatives: dreams and the dance of basic motivation Mervyn M. Peskin

Commentary and Rejoinder: Owen Renik, Chair

Commentary Sydney Pulver

Commentary Howard Shevrin

Rejoinder: Dialogue with commentators, presenters, and audience

Index