
WHERE ARE THE WILD THINGS?
AT THE WHITE INSTITUTE OF COURSE!

As part of its Thursday Colloquia Series CAPTP invites you to hear
RICHARD GOTTLIEB, MD
who has studied the works of Sendak on

December 17, 2009
11:45 am - 1:00 pm

20 West 74th Street
New York City
Third Floor Lecture Room 3A

Richard Gottlieb MD – is Associate Clinical Professor of Psychiatry, Mount Sinai:
Faculty and Supervisor, New York Psychoanalytic Institute

Dr. Gottlieb, an analyst whose work has focused on the quirky and dark corners of psychoanalytic thought (e.g. vampires and cannibalism), has studied three works of Sendak (Where the Wild Things Are, In the Night Kitchen, Outside Over There) in terms of the role of fantasy, dream and artistic creation in the transformations of overwhelming affect states in children. He was recently interviewed on NPR about his work on Sendak which has also appeared in the current issue of the Psychoanalytic Study of the Child.

Dr. Gottlieb's presentation will include visual materials (including previously unpublished preliminary sketches)

RSVP - Gary Schlesinger ghschlesinger@cs.com